

Further Food Waste Tips

For Poster 25

Try to restrict the amount of food products you purchase, that come from the other side of the planet, creating a huge Carbon Footprint. If your culture is reliant on products produced a long way away, perhaps you could look into seeing if they could be grown or made more locally.

Also, if imported goods are selling more cheaply than those produced in the UK, remember that these will be undercutting our own producers and possibly putting them out of business.
